Sartech teams up with Ocean Signal

Last month Sartech announced that it had been appointed as an Official Dealer and Certified Service Centre by ACR Electronics. Now, Ocean Signal joins the fold

Sartech is now approved to sell and service Ocean Signal's full range of EPIRBs and PLBs and becomes the only specialist in the UK to be an official partner for three major emergency beacon manufacturers. Ocean Signal joins GME and ACR at the manufacturer-approved business.

Sartech, one of the world's leading specialists in search and rescue technology, is the UK's longest-established MCA Registered Shore Based Maintainer. The company remains independent and has the expertise and equipment needed to service any make or model of emergency beacon.

"Ocean Signal's range of products give commercial, fishing and recreational users confidence when they need it most," explains Peter Forey, Managing Director of Sartech.

"The partnership with Ocean Signal is another great fit for Sartech," adds Forey. "Using the latest technologies available and paying meticulous attention to detail in manufacture, Ocean Signal shares our goal for delivering the highest standards in communication and safety at sea."

"The Partnership with Ocean Signal is another great fit."
